With Christmas coming most of us are already solidly entrenched in the preliminary pandemonium. To keep Christmas shopping spirits high I've always believed every woman should top her most-wanted list with a holiday treat for herself. Who could dispute that we deserve it!

After a hurry-scurry session through the stores, nothing beats an evening of complete relaxation in the super-soft robe shown here. Campus Girl has fashioned it in a delicate print, quilted with lightweight, warm Eastman Kodol polyester fiberfill.

Because of Kodol fiberfill this combination bathrobe-brunch coat contributes to leisure two ways—at-home curl up comfort and at-ease performance that makes it as practical as it is pretty.

So hop on the receiving line and wrap yourself this year. Take it from me—come Christmas morning one of the loveliest things around the tree will be you!

Thanks In Bloom

Jaycee State President Gets "Smushed"

State Jaycee President Avery Lee Williams of North Easton, Mass., in order to stimulate smaller chapters to increase membership challenged all locals to a contest. Any local president achieving a 100 per cent increase in membership over June 1 total membership would have the opportunity to "smush" him with a whipped cream pie.

of the Agawam Jaycees, pictured above, was the first president to throw a pie in Lee Williams face at the November board meeting in New Bedford, Mass. As of June 1, Agawam had only 11 regular members. The challenge enticed the local Jaycees to openly seek new members between the ages of 21 to 35. Greatness Recalled

A visitor to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, should without fail pause for a moment in the Academy chapel crypt, where lie the remains of John Paul Jones, the great naval officer of the American Revolution, who uttered the immortal words, "I have not yet begun to fight." The visitor will leave the crypt with a sense of awe, and a feeling that for a second of time he stood in the living presence of the birth of our nation.

A remarkable book has been published under the direction of naval historical authorities entitled "John Paul Jones." It contains many of Jones' writings, including his account of the classic sea battle between the Bonhomme Richard and the Serapis. In 1906, after the body of John Paul Jones was returned from Paris, and interred at the Naval Academy, President Theodore Roosevelt spoke at the ceremonies and said, "Every officer in our Navy should feel in each fiber of his being an eager desire to emulate the energy, the professional capacities, indomitable determination and dauntless scorn of death which marked John Paul Jones above all his fellows." There is little doubt that America's first great naval officer left a heritage that is in no small part responsible for the U. S. being the foremost sea power today.

Every citizen may be proud of the U. S. Navy, not alone for its sheer size and such things as fire power, but because of the matchless qualities of dedication and high character that have always marked the officers and men of the Navy from the day John Paul Jones presented his suggestions to Congress for the organization "...of a new navy which all patriots must hope shall become the foremost of the world..."

As the United States prepares to observe the bicentennial of the American Revolution, a better measure of the meaning of the Republic may be gained by reading John Paul Jones.

Medal Commemorates 25th Anniv. Of Attack On Pearl Harbor

Twenty-five years ago the attack on Pearl Harbor changed the war into a World War. President Roosevelt addressed a joint session of Congress and declared that December 7 was "a date which will live in infamy." "Remember Pearl Harbor" became the battle cry of the nation. A Quarter of a Century has passed and Pearl Harbor is now remembered as an important chapter of American History.

The 25th anniversary of the Attack on Pearl Harbor has been commemorated on a medal released by Presidential Art Medals, Inc., Englewood, Ohio. This medal is dedicated to those who served during this infamous attack on December 7, 1941.

The "Attack on Pearl Harbor" medal was designed and sculptured by Edward R. Grove of Drexel Hill, Pa. Mr. Grove became well known for his artistic works when he was sculptor-engraver at the U.S. Mint in Philadelphia. In creating this medal, the sculptor felt that an attitude of grim determination was called for in this likeness of President Roosevelt, tempered by a reflection of his unquenchable belief in our final victory—which he did not live to see. More than 50 camera studies, drawings, sculptures and paintings were studied in preparation for his portrait.

The reverse side of the medal captures a dramatic moment during the sneak attack on the morning of the "day of infamy," December 7, 1941. Seriously crippled in the early torpedo plane attacks and still burning from the later wave of dive bombing, the "West Virginia" has settled, listing, to the bottom off Ford Island. Behind her the masts of her stricken sister ship, the "Tennessee," are silhouetted against the clouds of smoke from the shattered "Arizona." Small boats are on their way to rescue survivors from the burning vessels.

The "Pearl Harbor" medal is issued in 1 1/2" diameter and available in Bronze at $4.00 each and a limited number of 2500 Silver at $20 each. This medal is part of a series commemorating the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of World War II. The series consists of thirty different medals depicting important events and personalities of World War II. The Medals will be issued near the 25th Anniversary of each event. An official spokesman for the firm said additional information on the "Pearl Harbor" medal and the entire World War II Medal Series, can be obtained by writing to Presidential Art Medals, Inc., Englewood, Ohio.

Smorgasbord Bazaar

Last week, through a mistake, the time for the Saturday night supper to be served by Wilson-Thompson Post for the benefit of its Childs Welfare Program was wrongly announced. The dancing will begin at 8, but the smorgasbord will be served at 10 p.m. as usual at these monthly affairs.

The Unit will be holding its Christmas Bazaar in Buddy Morrison Lodge Friday afternoon and evening and all day Saturday from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

This year's bazaar will be known as the "Christmas Cane Fantasy," and each guest will take home as a souvenir, a pretty Christmas Cane as a decoration for their own Christmas tree.

A variety of wares will be offered, including home baked foods, candy, handmade gifts, white elephants, original Christmas decorations and table pieces; gifts for children and grown-ups.

Mrs. Julia Moore is general chairman of the committee and Mrs. Eveline McGowan, cochairman. Unit president, Mrs. Virginia Catchepaugh, and a group of Unit Members and Junior Members will be on hand to serve the guests. Coffee and refreshments will be provided on Saturday.

A harsh word can never be withdrawn. A kind word will rebound many times.

DAVID C. GALLANO
Director of Veterans Services

Those Massachusetts veterans going to college under the new GI Bill who did not get their educational payments last week may have failed in their V. A. home work, the Veterans Administration at Boston said today. The VA urged those students who failed to receive checks due last week to: (1) Make sure that the notice of enrollment, which must be filled out and mailed by the school, has been sent to the VA by the school and (2) to make sure the Certificate of Attendance, which the veteran must fill out and send to the VA, has been mailed.

The V. A. geared its processing so that checks for October training would be mailed on Nov. 20 to all who filed their attendance cards no later than the first week in November. V. A. will continue to follow this procedure and pay on the 20th of each month those who send back their attendance cards by the first week of that month.

Veterans who neglected to send in their attendance cards for the month of October should do so immediately and VA will try to pay them in about 15 days.

Those veterans who did not receive their attendance certifications in time to return them to VA before the end of the first week in November, but who have since done so, may expect their educational payments in about 15 days from the date they filed the attendance form.

Further information may be obtained at the VA Contact Division, Room E-116, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Boston 02203. Tel. 223-3080.

Greetings Squares:

Our next dance will be this Friday evening at our usual place, Robinson Park School on Begley St. Our caller, as we announced previously, will be "Big Joe, the caller with the lively beat, Prystupa." We are looking forward to some good stepping and hoping too, our missing couples will be back again and rarin' to go!

To all those not in the know, (that's a big bunch) there are soon to be some mighty interesting changes made in our dance schedule. That's about all we can tell you at this time, but keep watching this column and better yet, get out to the Promenaders dances, and you'll see what's in store for you—It's good, good, good, believe us!

Last but never least, is the Program Chairmen's announcement that the nominating committee is just about ready with their slate of new prospective officers. The members of the nominating committee are: Bob and Maddy Dugan, chairmen; Art and Elaine Taupier, Vint and Gwen Gregory, Charlie and RoseMarie Nathan and Joe and Lorraine Gasperini.

These folks are to be commended for a job far less than easy and far more than well done.

Maryann Ceccarini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Ceccarini of 47 Howard St., earned high honors; and Maria Raschi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Raschi of 49 Fairview St., received honors.

Frances B. Jensen of Agawam was initiated into Westfield State College's Iota Iota chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, the honor society in education, at its meeting Nov. 28.

TODAY'S AGRI-FACT

The possibility that future heavy snows will make it almost impossible to find heavy cuttings of Christmas trees already on the ground, and thus create a shortage, makes early purchase a money-saving action. Woods-men continue cutting during the snows, but trees on the ground waiting shipment get blanketed with snow and are usually lost. Trees purchased now and kept outdoors in the ground or in a pile of water will stay fresh through the holiday season. People who delay purchase until the last minute will, in most cases, be purchasing the same trees now purchasing the same trees now day.

Last but not least will be one of the best coin auctions yet to be held—and at Christmas prices too.

Due to the coming holiday there will not be a meeting on the Wednesday after Christmas.

Let's go over the top with this meeting . . . don't forget to bring another interested person with you.

Connelly Completes Carrier Landings

PENSACOLA, Fla. (FHTNC)—Marine Reserve Second Lieutenant Edward W. Connelly, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Connelly of 565 River Road, Agawam, has completed one of the most memorable flights of a Naval Aviator's career.

LT. E. W. CONNELLY, JR.

He made six arrested Carrier Qualification landings aboard the USS Lexington operating in the Gulf of Mexico.

Prior to making the landings at sea, the aviators are required to qualify on field carrier landing strips which simulate, on the ground, a carrier's flight deck. Here the student adjusts himself to the restricted areas where he must land at sea.

In becoming members of the Navy's "Flat-top Fraternity," students are now qualified to complete more advanced stages of aviation training.
